County Overview

Rural municipalities are a form of local government established under Provincial legislation (Municipal Government Act). Beaver County was formed in 1958 by the amalgamation of the MD of Beaver #73 and the Holden School Division #17. In 1995, the Provincial Government forced the regionalization of school boards, resulting in the transfer of school operations and governance from County jurisdiction to that of Battle River School Division.

Beaver County, a diverse rural municipality of 5,905 residents, runs east and west along Highway 14 for approximately 112 km and approximately 40 km north and south at its widest point. In 2020, a total of 9,664 parcels generated a live assessment base of over $1.2 billion. The western portion of the County is a heavily wooded and hilly area, comprised primarily of small to medium-sized acreage holdings. As one travels further east, the landscape and population demographics change to flatter agricultural land and small family farms, mixed with oil and gas field development.

Four Hutterite Colonies have established their residences in Beaver County near Tofield, Holden, Bruce (Iron Creek) and Viking. Also interspersed throughout the County are the unincorporated communities of Dodds, Haight, and Poe, and the Hamlets of Bruce and Kinsella.

The County provides the following services:

- a) Agricultural services (weed and brush control, pest surveillance, nuisance animal control, sustainable agricultural practices)
- b) Animal control
- c) Bylaw enforcement
- d) Campgrounds (Ryley and Viking areas)
- e) Economic and community development
- f) Land use planning and development
- g) Property assessment and taxation
- h) Road maintenance and construction
- i) Sewage disposal services in hamlets

The County also contributes financially to its urban neighbours and various non-profit organizations to assist with the provision of other services such as fire protection and emergency management, library, recreation and culture, family and community support services, and waste management.

For more information regarding the County's financial position and its proposed 2021 budget, please visit the County's website at www.beaver.ab.ca.

Electoral Divisions

The County is divided into five divisions (see Schedule D).

While each division is a different size, the County has tried to ensure that each division is generally the same in terms of population and the length of its open roads.

Each division is represented by one Councillor whose term is 4 years.

The group of five elected Councillors appoint one Councillor from amongst themselves to be the Reeve.

The Reeve sits for one year and may be reappointed.

Roles and Responsibilities of Councillors

The County is a legal corporation empowered to provide good government, services, facilities, or other things that, in the opinion of Council, are necessary or desirable for all or part of the County, and to develop and maintain safe and viable communities.

The purposes, powers and capacity of municipalities are regulated by the Municipal Government Act (MGA). The Alberta Government recently undertook a comprehensive review of the MGA, and a new Act came into force on September 1, 2020.

The general duties of Councillors are outlined in the MGA, as follows:

- a) To consider the welfare and interests of the municipality as a whole and to bring to Council's attention anything that would promote the welfare or interests of the municipality;
- b) To promote an integrated and strategic approach to intermunicipal land use planning and service delivery with neighbouring municipalities;
- c) To participate generally in developing and evaluating the policies and programs of the municipality;
- d) To participate in Council meetings and Council Committee meetings and meetings of other bodies to which they are appointed by the Council;
- e) To obtain information about the operation or administration of the municipality from the Chief Administrative Officer or a person designated by the Chief Administrative Officer;
- f) To keep in confidence matters discussed in private at a Council or Council Committee meeting until discussed at a meeting held in public;
- g) To adhere to the Code of Conduct established by the Council under the Act; and
- h) To perform any other duty or function imposed on Councillors by this or any other enactment or by the Council.

The Reeve has additional responsibilities, such as acting as spokesperson for Council as a whole, presiding at all Council meetings, representing the County at various functions, and acting as the County's ambassador within and beyond the County's boundaries.

Although Councillors are elected by residents of individual divisions to represent their best interests and concerns, they are foremost members of a "team" and must support Council decisions, even if in disagreement with the majority.

Understanding and respect for your fellow Councillors' positions and circumstances is crucial to effectiveness in the role of Councillor.

Documents prepared by Alberta Municipal Affairs and the Rural Municipalities of Alberta provide valuable information for understanding your individual responsibilities and your powers and duties as part of a municipal council. You may find links to these documents on the County's website at www.beaver.ab.ca.

Council and Committee Meetings

Council Meetings

Council meets twice per month on the first and third Wednesdays of each month. Meetings begin at 8:30 am and usually end no later than 4:00 pm. A special Council meeting may be held anytime during the month if an important issue arises that requires Council's immediate attention. Council meetings are open to the public. **

External and Internal Committees

Each Councillor is expected to participate on internal committees that perform common sub-functions of Council or deal with specific ad-hoc issues, and on external committees to enhance regional cooperation and ensure that the County's interests are maintained. Representatives to the committees are selected at the annual organizational meeting of Council each Fall. Schedules B and C include lists of internal and external committees, Council representation, the mandate and authority of the committees, and meeting schedules. Meeting schedules are subject to change at the discretion of each committee.

The time required to effectively represent your residents, the County, and the interests of the committees varies significantly from Councillor to Councillor. You can expect to attend at least two daytime and several night meetings each month, as well as an orientation session after Election Day and a Council strategic planning workshop each year. Conferences range from 2 – 5 days, at least twice per year, and significant time may be required to respond to calls, e-mails, and inquiries from residents. The first few months as a newly elected official are the most time-consuming as you attend meetings and learn your new role. Please refer to Schedule A for important meeting dates and times in your first few months in office. Please note that this Schedule does not include internal or external committee meeting dates.

 While public health restrictions are in place related to the COVID-19 pandemic, Council Chambers is closed to the public. Council meetings can be viewed on-line at www.beaver.ab.ca.

Meeting Preparation

Agenda packages for Council meetings are made available in electronic form at least two working days prior to the meeting.

You are expected to take sufficient time to review the agenda and supporting documentation in preparation for each meeting.

A working knowledge of computers and e-mail is necessary to assist you with your elected official duties.

To ensure that you have the necessary technology to be effective as a Councillor, the County will provide you with a laptop, internet connection, and training.

The County will also provide you with some funds to buy a fax machine and printer.

Meeting Remuneration

The remuneration rate is set by Council and is currently $259.03 per full-day meeting for Council and internal committee meetings.

Travel expenses, meals, and lodging costs are also reimbursed.

External committees may also pay remuneration which is set by the individual Committee.

Councillors are eligible for health and wellness benefits similar to that offered to employees of the County, and contribute to a pension plan.

Campaign Rules **

You may begin to campaign for office anytime, however you must file a Nomination Paper and a Candidate Financial Information Form before you incur any campaign expenses or accept campaign contributions. See below for further explanation of campaign expenses and contributions.

Campaigning on Election Day is allowed, however there are restrictions on campaign locations.

For example, you may not campaign or post campaign posters or signs inside or outside a building where a voting station is located (including the land on which the building is located), and you may not interfere with, or unduly influence, a voter at a voting station. For further details, consult the LAEA.

Campaign signs may not be placed on any County buildings or property, they cannot destroy or deface any property, and cannot be attached to any road signs.

Signs less than 12 square feet may be placed at intersections, however they cannot interfere with the safe and orderly movement of traffic or sightlines and may require permission from the road authority (e.g. the rural municipality or Alberta Transportation).

Signs on private property require the permission of the landowner. All signs must be removed within 48 hours of the close of voting stations.

NOTE: If you choose to campaign while the public health restrictions regarding COVID-19 are in effect, you must adhere to all Provincial Government guidelines and legislation. Alberta Health Services has issued a document entitled Guidance for Canvassing and Campaigning, which assists candidates, campaign staff, and volunteers to understand their responsibilities during these activities. The document is available on the County's website.

Campaign Expenses

Campaign expenses are defined as any expenses incurred, or non-monetary contributions received, by a candidate for the direct promotion or opposition of a candidate during a campaign period. Examples include advertising or promotional material, remuneration or expense reimbursement for a candidate's chief financial officer or campaign worker, meeting space rental, surveys, etc.

If you will incur campaign expenses, you should be aware that there are rules regarding the accounting and disclosure of expenses. Candidates are responsible for ensuring all requirements of the LAEA are met.

Campaign Contributions

A campaign contribution is any money, personal property, real property, or service that is provided to or for the benefit of a candidate's election campaign without fair market value compensation from that candidate. A contribution does not include services provided by a volunteer who receives no compensation, directly or indirectly, in relation to the services provided.

Only Alberta residents may make a contribution to a candidate and may only contribute a maximum of $5000 per candidate. A candidate may self-fund his/her campaign up to $10,000.

Anonymous contributions are not permitted.

If you will receive campaign contributions, you should be aware that there are rules regarding the eligibility of contributors, and the accounting and disclosure of contributions, including self-funded campaigns. Candidates are responsible for ensuring all requirements of the LAEA are met.

Candidate's Agent

You may appoint any elector to be your official agent or your scrutineer. Before performing their duties, the agent or scrutineer must complete the required forms which are available at www.beaver.ab.ca.

Third Party Advertising (NEW in 2021)

A third party (individual, corporation, or group, but NOT the candidate) that wishes to engage in election advertising and will incur expenses or accept advertising contributions must register in each jurisdiction it intends to advertise.

The advertising period is restricted to May 1, 2021 to the close of voting stations on Election Day.

Third party advertisers are strongly encouraged to consult the LAEA for all requirements.

* Disclaimer: The information provided in this section is an office interpretation of the LAEA and the County does not warrant the accuracy of this information. There may be other factors that affect how a specific campaign is run, what constitutes a campaign expense, how a campaign contribution should be handled, and third party advertising, and candidates are advised to contact Alberta Municipal Affairs or seek legal advice in these cases.
